FLAT DENIALS END SECRET PACT TALK

Hughes Terms Charges of U. S.—British Agreement "Absolutely False."

Washington, March 21.—The 24-hour sensation over suggestions of a secret British-American co-operative "understanding" suddenly flickered out today in the Senate.

A succession of formal denials emanating from sources that ranged from the White House down, showered in upon opponents of the four-power Pacific treaty as they were preparing to ask for a formal investigation and apparently put an end to the whole incident.

At the White House officials said flatly that no secret agreements of the character suggested existed. Secretary Hughes, in a letter read in the Senate, characterized the suggestion as "absolutely false." Paul D. Cravath, the New York attorney, whose statement started the row, sent a telegram saying he had been incorrectly quoted and had no knowledge of any "secret understanding."

Doubts Lawyer's Veracity.
Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who presented the Cravath statement to the Senate yesterday, contented himself with saying that what he read was a stenographic transcript of Mr. Cravath's remarks, and that the explanation now made would not be accepted in any court. Senator Johnson, Republican, California, added that Mr. Cravath had best be left to depart from the debate "with a veracity shattered in several directions." No one rose to defend the New York attorney, and the discussion drifted to other issues of the treaty fight.

The purpose of some of the irreconcilables to make the incident the basis for a fight to send the treaty back to committee apparently had been abandoned tonight, along with the proposal to summon Mr. Cravath and others to make a full explanation. Some senators, however, indicated that they felt a motion to recommit should be made as a matter of form, and it was generally predicted that such a step would be taken before the ratification vote is reached on Friday. Administration leaders say they are certain to defeat the motion overwhelmingly.

The White House denial was not commented directly to the Senate, although Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, and a member of the American arms delegation, saw President Harding before the Senate opened.

It was Senator Lodge to whom the Cravath telegram and the letter of Secretary Hughes was addressed but he presented them without comment.

Dislikes Hint at Life.
Mr. Hughes wasted no words in denying the existence of any "secret notes or understandings" with any foreign power, but he concluded his five-sentence letter with a hope "that the American delegates will be saved further aspersions upon their veracity and honor." In the debate which followed there was not a single reference to the letter or to the secretary.

Tomorrow when a one hour limit on speeches goes into effect under a unanimous consent agreement, prepared addresses are to be made by Senators La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, and Walsh, Democrat, Mass., and probably also by Senators Shortridge, Republican, California; Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, and McCormick, Republican, Illinois.

By the terms of the agreement voting was in order today on pending amendments and reservations, but there was no attempt to press toward a roll call. It was said at least one of the proposals might be voted on tomorrow. After the final vote on ratification is taken Friday the administration leaders expect to ask immediately for a ratification roll call on the supplemental treaty defining the scope of the four power agreement. The naval limitation treaty is to be next on a program of priority decided on by the leaders, leaving the Chinese treaties until the last.

R. W. HARNES.

Richard Wesver Barnes, who had passed the four-score mark by a short period, died at his home near Goshen at 6 o'clock Thursday evening of last week, as the result of an attack of influenza in connection with other infirmities due to his advanced age. Mr. Barnes was a member of one of the oldest families of Ohio County. He was married early in life to Miss Fannie H. Austin, who survives her departed husband. To this union there are four surviving daughters: Mesdames E. L. Bennett, Boda; Sam Rogers, Weaver Dam; Ola Porter, Louisville and Paul Woodward, New Philadelphia, Ohio, also six sons: Messrs. Henry S. Prentiss; R. D. Beaver Dam; L. T. and Jesse, New Philadelphia, Ohio; E. S. of Goshen and Judge W. H. Barnes of Hartford. Funeral services were conducted from the home Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock, by the Rev. T. T. Frazier and the remains brought to Oakwood Cemetery for interment immediately thereafter. The deceased Mr. Barnes was a good citizen, unassuming, sturdy in his integrity and well liked by neighbors and friends.

MRS. SALLYE M. ROWE

Mrs. Sallye Mary Rowe, widow of the late William L. Rowe, died Saturday night in Beaver Dam, at the home of her brother, Mr. E. G. Austin, of Asthma, at the age of 77 years.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. C. C. Daves of Beaver Dam, at the Centertown Baptist Church, and her remains deposited in the Centertown Cemetery Monday.

OIL WELL STRUCK AT DEPTH OF 420 FEET

The well drilled on the James Patton farm, formerly owned by Frank Sullenger, by L. C. Scott and N. P. Hickey, was drilled in Tuesday morning and is showing for a nice producer. This well was drilled to the depth of four-hundred and twenty feet, with twenty-six feet of good oil bearing sand penetrated. The well is estimated to be good for a fifty barrel producer.

The well is to the south of, and not far from the Carter well No. 1, and also near the well drilled in by Holbrook & Co., on the Brown farm a short time ago in which a good flow of oil was struck at practically the same depth as that of the new well.

Other wells will be started at once on the adjoining farms and from all indications it seems that Hartford and vicinity is to experience a big boom within the next few weeks. It is said that Oil men are coming in from the different fields on almost every train.

HUNDRED THOUSAND TO GET EMPLOYMENT

Federal Participation in Road Programs To Aid Jobless; Farmers To Benefit.

Washington, March 23.—(Capital News Service.)—Every state in the union possessing a state highway department and appropriating state money for road construction approved by the national government will share in the $75,000,000 road appropriation passed by Congress. This, on a fifty-fifty basis, means one hundred and fifty millions to be spent upon public roads this year, giving work to an army of a hundred thousand men.

Warm weather, already making its presence felt in the south, starts this work going. Many states have their plans all made, and have secured the approval and the co-operation of the Bureau of Public Roads, Department of Agriculture, which organization has control of the federal aid funds. Roads constructed by joint funds must meet with certain federal specifications as to width, grade, location and character of construction, which particulars vary with the locality, the road building material available, and the probable use of the road.

Farmers are hoping that the employment of so much unskilled labor will aid them when crop gathering time arrives by bringing into and making accustomed to country life many jobless men who otherwise would remain in or near urban centers.

DWELLING DESTROYED.

The two story residence of Mr. C. B. Carden on Clay Street, was totally destroyed by fire early Tuesday morning. The exact origin of the fire is not definitely known, but was either in the garret or from falling soot upon the roof, as considerable headway had been made by the flames when discovery was made. The alarm was turned in and the men and boys turned out en masse, but the building being unusually tall and the fire having spread so rapidly nothing could be done to save the building. The greater portion of the contents was saved although much damage was incurred by rough handling by hurrying and excited men and boys.

Insurance upon the building to the amount of $2,000, and $500 upon the contents was carried by Mr. Carden. The loss, uncovered by insurance will probably exceed $2,500.

ODDITIES SEEN IN THE DAILY NEWS

Newspaper Pages Fund of Amusement To Careful Readers.

Washington, March 23. (Capital News Service.)—A New York bootlegger, giving his occupation as "professional," paid more than $2,000 income tax to the United States—and the United States took it!

Side by side in a Washington paper is the announcement that a bridegroom of eighty jilted his bride-to-be of one hundred at the altar, and the story of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Duncan, who live near New Market, Iowa, and their married life of seventy-three years. Mr. Duncan is 96 and his wife 91.

A cat in Birmingham, Ala., proud possessor of five kittens, adopted two baby rats given her as food and is now raising her strange family in peace and amity.

American girls, take notice of the emancipation of your French sisters. All citizens of France, regardless of sex, may now marry after reaching the age of twenty-five years, without the consent of parents. This reduces by five years the age limit previously obtaining; members of the French Chamber of Deputies, who have passed the new law, naively hope it will result in more marriages!

In Bend, Oregon, two moving picture houses have installed a "pay as you leave" scheme by which each patron stays as long as he likes and pays as much as he thinks the show is worth. According to the manager of the two houses, the receipts are larger than under the old plan of buying a ticket in advance. Bank presidents needing cashier material are respectfully referred to the population of Bend!

GOVERNOR WILL VETO "SUEING" RESOLUTION

Frankfort, Ky., March 22.—Governor Morrow announced Tuesday that he will veto the resolution authorizing Attorneys Theodore B. and Clayton B. Blakey of Louisville, to sue the Commonwealth for $2,733.09 expenses said to have been incurred by them in 1919 under a contract with Governor Stanley to bring escheat suits against corporations. The Governor said he objected to committing the Commonwealth to the statement in the resolution that "in equity and good conscience such money so expended for the Commonwealth should be refunded by it."

A. W. LOGAN.

Abram W. Logan, aged 85 years, 7 months and 10 days, died at his home in Hartford, Friday morning of last week at 1:30, the immediate cause of death being pneumonia, although he had been in declining health during the past several months.

Mr. Logan was born in Toronto, Canada, where he resided until about the age of thirty, when he removed to Oil City, Pa., and embarked in the oil business. He was twice married, the last marriage being to Miss Mary E. Taylor of Hartford, on September 15, 1913. After spending several months abroad they returned to this place, where they have since resided. Mr. Logan was a splendid type of manhood; genteel in all respects. He was a man of considerable means, yet, notwithstanding his advanced years, he accounted no day properly spent in which he had not produced something, or added usefulness and beauty to that which he already possessed. He was a believer in work.

Besides his widow, the deceased is survived by one daughter, by the former marriage, Miss Florence, who resides at their home here, also one sister, Miss Jennie Logan, of Ingersoll, Canada.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. T. Frazier, from the family residence Saturday morning at 10 o'clock after which burial of the remains took place in Oakwood Cemetery.

Carson, 5th and 6th grades; Miss Alice Taylor, 3rd and 4th grades and Miss Benah Moore, 1st and 2nd grades. James A. Baird was also re-elected custodian.

The Board fixed the tax rate for the coming year at $1.00 per each $100.00, which is an advance of only 25 cents per hundred.

TAYLOR—RIDINGS

Miss Marguerite Taylor and Mr. James Ridings of Nashville, were quietly married at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the parsonage of Settle Memorial church, Rev. C. C. Gregory, pastor, officiating. The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. John Barker, Miss Ollie Marie Trueman and Mr. J. Ridings, of Nashville, brother of the groom.

The bride wore her traveling suit of blue tricotine, with accessories to match, a corsage of Ward roses and sweetpeas completing her costume. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Taylor, and is a very attractive and popular member of the younger social circles. Mr. and Mrs. Ridings left immediately following the ceremony for a western wedding trip, following which they will make their home in Nashville, where the groom is connected with the Hippodrome Motor Co.—(Owensboro Messenger.) The bride is a niece of Mrs. Howard Ellis, of this city, and has many friends here.

DRY LAW PROSECUTION ACT IS NOW IN FORCE

Frankfort, Ky., March 22.—The Kentucky prohibition law cut its teeth today when Governor Morrow signed the Rash emergency act amending the law so as to give inferior courts jurisdiction over first offenses under the act and providing that anyone convicted of violating the law shall be put under $1,000 bond, besides serving his jail sentence and paying the fine. This act went into effect immediately upon the Governor's signature. It allows peace officers $5 fee for every arrest and conviction; offers $50 reward for information leading to arrest and conviction; gives Commonwealth's Attorneys jurisdiction over the cases and allows them 50 per cent commission on fines and forfeitures in all courts.

All property involved in violations, including the full boundary of any real estate, is subject to forfeiture and sale, and any citizen may institute proceedings for forfeiture and is entitled to 10 per cent of the net proceeds of the sale. The burden of proof is on the defendant in such instances, and in all prosecutions for violations of the law evidence of the general reputation of the defendant is competent.

The Governor also today approved the Minor House bills increasing the fees of the Banking Department and providing for six State bank examiners.

"WORLD SUNDAY" FOR SOUTHERN METHODISTS

Nashville, Tenn.—A simultaneous effort throughout Southern Methodist territory, on March 26, to be known as "World Sunday," will, it is said, call the attention of delinquent subscribers to the Centenary of Missions movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to a shortage in collections on behalf of that movement.

It is expected that on "World Sunday" pastors of the 18,000 church congregations in Southern Methodism will revive the Centenary theme and portray the disastrous results to the big missionary program launched three years ago if the deficit is not made good. Cash payments on overdue Centenary subscriptions will be solicited on "World Sunday" and during the following week a church-wide canvass will be made to secure the payment of arrearages.

The original drive for the Centenary fund taken three years ago was for $35,000,000, to be paid through a period of five years. It is announced that only forty per cent of the amount due has been paid to date, whereas sixty per cent is now due. It is to meet this shortage that Methodists throughout the South are seeking to arouse the mind of the church along Centenary lines.

STRIKE TO TIE UP 6,000 COAL MINES

Hard And Soft Pits To Be Closed; No Hope For Peace Seen

Indianapolis, March 22.—Barring the miracle of a settlement of wage difficulties within the next ten days, 6,000,000 miners in all the unionized hard and soft coal mines of the United States and British Columbia will drop their tools April 1 for an indefinite period under the terms of the strike order from international headquarters of the United Mine Workers which is in the mails today.

For the first time in the history of the coal industry, both the bituminous and anthracite mines of the nation are to be idle at the same time. If the strike order is carried out. And union officials today saw no ray of hope for averting the nation-wide suspension.

While domestic consumers likely will not suffer from any shortage of coal resulting from the mine tie-up, industry just now beginning to move along with a firm stride, will be cramped in the view of union officials.

The suspension, in effect a strike—will continue "until the cows come home," in the words of union officials who make clear that the miners are determined to keep the entire anthracite field and approximately three-fourths of the soft coal mines "sewed up" until they have attained their goal.

This goal is a joint conference with the operators—now made impossible by refusal of certain bituminous mine owners to participate—at which they want to present demands for continuation of the present wage schedule, retention of the check-off system and inauguration of the six hour day and five day week. They would be content if it is indicated, to drop the six hour day, five day week demand if the operators would "come across" with the rest of the programme.

The operators, however, are determined upon enforcing wage reductions and they have no liking, they say for the check off and have no intention of granting the shorter working day. Besides many of them take the view that if they entered a conference with the miners under the 1920 contract they would be going against the Federal Court in Indianapolis, where 226 operators, union officials and mining companies are under indictment for alleged conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust act.

Effect of Suspension

The effect of the suspension, to be precipitated at midnight March 31 by the order just sent out, in the opinion of union officials will be:

- First—To cause 600,000 miners to drop their tools without strike benefits.
- Second—To tie up about 6,000 of the country's 7,500 mines.
- Third—To close up every anthracite mine because the whole hard coal field is unionized.
- Fourth—To call out unionized soft coal miners producing 2,225,000 tons a day.
- Fifth—To leave the country's coal production resting upon nonunion miners delivering a maximum of 600,000 tons daily.

On top of this Administration officials in Washington express the belief that the coal strike—regarded as inevitable—will be attended by sporadic strikes of railroad employees. That there will be any concerted sympathetic strike on the part of the sixteen major railroad unions of the country, who recently entered into a "defensive alliance" with the miners, however is regarded as improbable in union quarters. Only the "moral" support of the transportation union is anticipated.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS.

The so-called "Dog Law," requiring all dog owners to procure licenses and tags for their dogs each year, was NOT REPEALED by the Legislature just adjourned. Dog owners who have not already done so, are hereby warned to get such licenses and tags from the County Clerk promptly, otherwise the prosecution of such delinquents will be continued.

INS HAUL BIG MIGRATION

Colony Of 20,000 Moving;
Cows And Hens Yield Food On Way.

(By Thomas Wrigley.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 18.—"It's a big haul here. Is it much further to go?"

A Mennonite asked the question, looking at a colony of 20,000 who are leaving their Kansas City on a hundred-mile train in the greatest migration of a religious sect in modern times.

From the rich farming country around Plom Coulee, in Manitoba, Canada, still ice-bound in the grip of the northern winter, the Mennonites are journeying to a vast tract they have purchased near Torreon, Chihuahua, Mexico.

The Mennonite was one of 150 on board the special trains and with others of his party he stood beside the train while the train was in the station. He was dressed in sombre black and dark brown, a huge man with a face upon which a smile seldom played, but his eyes were as blue as the blue eyes of a child.

"Worship God As We Desire," the Mennonite said, "we go to Mexico, our new home, we go to worship God as we desire."

"A fairly good English, but mixed with German words, he explained the meaning of the exodus. The Mennonites seek greater religious freedom. They want to teach their children in school in which German is spoken. In Canada this was not allowed—English only is spoken in the schools, and the Mennonite children were required to go to Canadian schools.

So, in order to raise their children in the Mennonite way, free from the slightest influence of the outside world, the elders decided to leave their prosperous colony.

They have purchased 200,000 acres of land in one of the most fertile tracts of Chihuahua, and on these acres the "promised land" for these 20,000, they will begin their agricultural pursuits.

"Sell Farms for Little," the Mennonite said, "we have talked of the pilgrimage, we are forced to sell our farms for little."

We have with us on the special trains, cows and chickens, just what we need to get started. Our farm animals have been taken. I have my gun with me on the train to help in the hunt for game. But we are happy. We will be by ourselves to work and worship and help each other."

On the side was a Mennonite maid, dressed like all the women, in black, with ample skirts reaching to the ankle and with a waist showing sleeves and high neck. Her hair was parted in the middle and combed straight back and tightly braided. "It did not cover the ears, which were tucked beneath a black bandage tied beneath the chin.

"I mind not the long journey," she said, "downcast eyes. All my friends are with us. We will be happy in Mexico, where, they say, it is warmer all the time."

Provide Own Food. During the stopover some of the men went to the stock cars to milk the cows and care for the stock and the women cook the food and serve it and keep the camp clean. They are traveling in Pullmans, and there are no dining cars or dining-car chefs.

Every morning and again at evening religious services are held on the special trains. German is the only language spoken—few, in fact, can speak English, and they are generally Mennonite folk.

The Mennonites of the Manitoba colony settled in Canada in 1873, coming from overseas at the invitation of the Canadian government. They are intelligent, they prospered and, when the decision to leave their home was made, were easily able to sacrifice their rich possessions and to undertake the immense migration of moving to their new lands in Mexico, purchased, it is said, at a cost of $5 per acre.

They will build about twenty villages on their lands and within a few years will be completely established in their new homes.

Many hundreds have already reached the new land and are busily engaged in preparing for the arrival of the thousands to come—Louisville Herald.

VIEWS OF LESLIE M. SHAW ON THRIFT

Too Many Seek Short Cut to Wealth, Says Former Secretary Of The Treasury.

Some outspoken observations on the youth of to-day were made by Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury under President Roosevelt, and now in his seventy-fourth year of life, in a recent talk before the Marquette Club in New York.

"This seems to be a generation of 'get-mores,'" said Mr. Shaw. "The question that seems uppermost in young people's minds nowadays is, how can I get more money—how can I find the short cut to wealth? If more than the legitimate fee for a service or profit from an undertaking is to be obtained, they are all for it. What we need to teach the younger generation is how to put more into life, not how to get more out of it. "Yet the idea of thrift seems furthest from their minds. The whole sentiment among young people is not to accumulate savings, and thrift is considered stinginess. There is only one infallible rule for success, and that is—can a man live within his income? A man who spends all of his income for living expenses is never going to succeed."

Growing boys are not being taught the meaning of a day's work and the value of a dollar as they were in the old days, Mr. Shaw thought. It was not the country's illiterates who were sleeping in the parks with newspapers for a mattress, but those whose parents kept them from working that they might get an education. "But I'm not against education, mind you," said the speaker. "I believe in it, but the young man must be taught that he must work for what he gets; that this world keeps a one-price store, with no bargain counters."

THE PORT'S CONFESSION.

When I am called by hidden might Earth could not make me stand; For when a still small voice says: Write!" There's naught could stay my hand.

For it is not the powers of earth That say me aye or nay; For when it comes to my own worth I hold myself at bay.

I am the servant of the pen Of some great mind unknown, And when it speaks to me, why then 'Tis mine to make it known.

I am a servant, that is all, Sworn to obey the heart. But we are branded each and all The bondsmen of his art.

"Would you wish the lady's name engraved in the ring?" the jeweler suggested pleasantly. "Eh? Why, no," the cautious young man responded. "Suppose you just put 'To my beloved.'—New York Sun.

104 LOCKED UP AS SHIP BURNS

Passengers Kept In State Rooms; Stokers Work At Pistols' Points.

New York, March 18.—A thrilling tale of fire at sea, with 104 panic-stricken men and women locked in their staterooms, and stokers held at their posts under the threat of drawn pistols, was related by passengers of the United States liner Potomac when she arrived here today from Bremen.

It was a tale of Yankee pluck and ingenuity—of a skipper's refusal to give up his ship until every hope had been abandoned, and of his acceptance of the "thousand to one chance" which turned a threatening catastrophe into a merely harrowing experience for those aboard.

The fire was discovered at midnight March 2, a few hours after the Potomac, with Capt. William McLeod in charge, sailed from Bremen up the coast of Holland into the North Sea. She had been steaming along on a smooth sea when suddenly, with howls of warning, the Spanish and Filipino stokers bounded from the hold and started for the lifeboats.

Driven at Pistols' Points. Officers, with drawn revolvers, ordered them back to the fireroom, which had become an inferno of smoke with flames billowing from an adjoining compartment, where mattresses, life preservers and ship's stores had mysteriously taken fire.

The dread cry of "fire" spread quickly through the ship. The 104 passengers broke from their staterooms and made for the lifeboats. Captain McLeod sent stewards to herd them back and prevent the frenzied ones from leaping overboard.

Chief Engineer E. M. Garland already had placed guards over the boiler-room crews, and with streams of hose were spouting tons of water on the blaze.

Power Rooms Flooded. The engine and firerooms were flooded with water, but huge clouds of smoke pouring from the hatchways and the almost unbearable heat around the stokers, next to the fire, gave evidence that it was gaining headway.

At 1 a. m. the fire had become so fierce that the decks were hot. At 4 o'clock the Potomac slowed down to half speed. At 4:50 Captain McLeod ordered the engines stopped, and the blazing craft rolled sluggishly about while the whole crew turned fire fighters.

Seamen went over the sides in basins' chairs with sledge hammers, smashed in the cast iron port lids, and directed their hoses into the heart of the fire, but without effect. Even live steam, turned into the hatchways, failed to retard the flames.

At 8:20 a. m. after the S. O. S. had been sent out and a rescue was leaving to, to await the result of the battle, Captain McLeod decided that, rather than bench his ship, he would try a stunt he learned during the war, while dodging enemy submarines.

Bridge Water Does Work. He steamed ahead at top speed, until the whole ship throbbed with the vibration and her outline was almost obscured by the dense smoke sweeping astern.

Suddenly he ordered the rudder hauled over. As the vessel careened in the "come about" her starboard side lifted so sharply as to throw the tons of water in her hold up along her sides and over the heart of the fire.

Immediately the flames subsided, and at 4 p. m. sixteen hours after the alarm was sounded, the fire was under control and the vessel resumed her voyage.

The Potomac still had about thirty tons of water in her hold when with a list to port, she steamed in today.

SAVE OR SPEND, WHICH?

A well-to-do business man had his shoes made for years by a shoemaker who charged, usually, $16 to $18 a pair. When prices of everything were soaring skywards, the business man asked what he would be charged for a new pair of shoes. "Forty dollars," he was told. He decided to get along without them. Last year he again telephoned and was again told "Forty dollars." He protested, as leather was selling for next to nothing, that this price was preposterously high. The shoemaker, however, was obdurate. The business man then told him that henceforth he would buy his shoes elsewhere. And he told me the other day that he had obtained for less than $20 an excellent pair of shoes. He added: "I would regard spending $40 for a pair of shoes as wasteful. I believe in thrift. But I also believe in spending. Genuine thrift does not consist of not spending. Genuine thrift consists of spending money to the very best of advantage. Saving is, or should be, only a means to an end. Unless we are spending, we can have no vigorous prosperity. As a matter of fact, real prosperity comes from the right kind of spending. But the right kind of spending is true economy, and true economy is equivalent to thrift. Thriftlessness is unwise, foolish spending.

"Isn't it funny," he went on, "that while the virtues of thrift are constantly being drilled into our ears, very little is ever said about the importance of spending judiciously. If the people could be taught to make the wisest possible use of their money, then thrift and saving would take care of themselves. There is need for talking more about spending rather than for talking more about saving. Wise spending—combined, of course, with hard work and right habits—will bring back prosperity quicker than anything else."

A pain in the side or back that catches you when you straighten up calls for a rubbing application of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It relaxes the contracted muscles and permits ordinary bodily motion without suffering or inconvenience. Price 30c, 60c and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by Ohio County Drug Co.

I. C. MOVES FREIGHT PROMPT AND REGULAR

Illinois Central System freight service is founded upon prompt and regular movement of freight and consideration of patrons' wants, according to a statement to the public made by President C. H. Markham.

Rapid movement is given perishable traffic, and the Illinois Central System is among the leading railroads of the country in handling this type of business. Fruits from the tropics and domestic fruits and vegetables from Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and the Rio Grande valley of Texas move north over the lines of the Illinois Central System in solid trainloads. During the past six months these trains have made early morning deliveries at their destinations 99 per cent on time. At northern points, cars are delivered to connecting lines for distribution throughout the East, the West and Canada.

The Illinois Central System also ranks among the leading railroads in originating coal and lumber traffic. These commodities are moved largely in solid trainloads to prevent detention at terminals. Fast moving merchandise trains are operated out of the principal cities on the system. Solid trainloads of meat and packinghouse products are handled between Omaha, Sioux City and Chicago and fast through trains from Council Bluffs to Chicago carry California fruits and vegetables.

A bureau in the office of the car accountant at Chicago receives telegraphic advices of the movement of cars loaded with perishable goods and other high-class freight and is able at any time to inform shippers or consignees of the exact location and the probable time of arrival or delivery to connecting lines.

The equipment of the Illinois Central System enables it to maintain this splendid freight service. The company owns 1700 locomotives and 69,127 freight cars. Since the return from federal control 150 locomotives and 1,500 freight cars have been purchased. Orders for 3,000 additional freight cars have been placed recently.

Cars are unavoidably delayed at times, but this is negligible in comparison to the great number of cars handled daily. When a car is delayed; it is placed in a preferred class, and is handled in fast trains in order to gain as much of the lost time as possible.

The conservative business man long ago learned the lesson that is sought to be taught by the annual observance of Thrift Week; months ago he realized that the excessive credits had brought him face to face with a real danger and that thrift was insistently demanded by the state of the business of the country says the Montgomery Ala., Advertiser.

CONGRESS SAVING SAYS "UNCLE JOE"

It Is the Most Economical Part Of The Government As Proven
By Figures

Washington, March 18.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, who is rounding out his fiftieth year since his first election in the Danville district, declares that the legislative branch of the Government is by far the most economical of the three. In reporting an appropriation bill he said:

"This bill providing appropriations for the legislative branch of the Government for the fiscal year 1923 carries, in round numbers, twelve and a half million dollars. In the rearrangement of the Budget this bill provides for the Government Printing Office, the Library of Congress, and the Botanic Garden, which are semi-executive rather than strictly legislative, and leaving out the appropriations for those functions, the appropriations for the legislative work of the Government amount to less than $11,000,000. This is an almost insignificant sum as compared with the total estimated expenditures of about three and a half billion dollars for the whole Government.

"This bill therefore appropriates a comparatively small amount to provide for the lawmaking machinery compared with the appropriations for executive functions. The money we propose to appropriate for the legislative branch represents about $1 in $300 of the total estimated expenditure for next year; it will call for a per capita tax of 11 cents on the people in continental United States and about $1 in $24,000 of our national wealth—not a very burdensome tax on our wealth for legislative activities.

"The legislative branch has always been the most economical part of the Government, and in proportion to the total cost of the Government it has been growing less ever since the adoption of the Constitution. Twenty-five years ago in the McKinley administration the appropriations for the legislative branch as presented in this bill represented $1 out of $100 of the total appropriations, and now it is proposed to appropriate for the Congress $1 out of $300 in the total expenditures. We have kept down salaries and expenditures for the legislative branch in the past, while circumstances have persuaded us largely to increase salaries, employees, and expenses in the executive departments, and add new departments and bureaus with new executive functions, until as I look back to the time when I first entered the House nearly 50 years ago and compare the executive part of the Government then and now, it is like going from Danville to the great metropolis of New York. The executive branch of the Government has grown like the fabled bean stalk, while the legislative branch remains much as it was then, with a few more Members, a few more clerks, and better accommodations for members.

"We have continued to be economical in appropriating public money for the upkeep of the legislative branch, and that may be one reason why we receive so little attention other than criticism from the multiplicity of agencies of publicity. We have been so careful about appropriating money for the law-making machinery that we have come to be regarded as only an agency for appropriating money to carry forward other plans for government, many of them quite different from the ideas of the founders of the Government."

"I do not mention these contrasts for the purpose of criticism of the changes that have come with the growth and development of the country and its complicated and complex expansion into the greatest and richest Nation on the face of the earth; but I call attention to these changes simply to show that Congress has remained the least changed part of the Government."

228 FARM YOUNGSTERS RAISING BEEF CALVES

Lexington, Ky., March 18.—A total of 228 Kentucky farm youngsters, including several girls in 12 different counties of the State, are raising baby calves this spring which they will enter in the first annual fat and feeding cattle show to be held at the Louisville Hounour Stock yards November 23 and 24. M. S. Garside, assistant state leader of junior agricultural club work at the College of Agriculture has announced.

The young beef cattle raisers, who are all members of the special beef cattle clubs organized in their counties, will compete for prizes totalling $1,000.00 offered exclusively for club members and $500.00 offered for juniors and adults.

Clubs have been organized in Marlon, Lincoln, Hoyle, Washington, Brockenridge, Warren, Barren, Wayne, McCreary, Carroll, Crittenden and Butler counties. The number of members in the various clubs varies from 40 in Warren County to five in McCreary County. Animals from the three principal beef breeds, including Angus, Shorthorn and Herefords, will be used by the club members in their feeding work. Seven other counties, including Hopkins, Christian, Webster, Todd, Garrard, Allen and Letcher are expected to enter the event with a total of 121 animals.

CLOVER TEN FEET TALL IS PRODUCED

Iowa Professor Develops Superior Plant For Fertilizer.

Newbern, Ala., March 18.—Professor H. D. Hughes of the Iowa Agricultural College at Ames, Ia., here on a leave of absence, is a promising rival of Luther Burbank in developing plant life, and of Henry Ford and Muske Shoals in producing cheap fertilizer.

Professor Hughes is the discoverer of "hubam," a remarkable new clover which attains a growth of five to ten feet in the first year.

In explaining the significance of what he has done Hughes made this statement:

"Soil demands nitrogen and organic matter as a fertilizer in order to get the best results.

"Nitrogen must be obtained from the air either by a chemical process such as is proposed at Muske Shoals or by plowing under certain kinds of plants in which the nitrogen has been fixed by bacteria.

Clover as Soil Renewer.

"Clover is the ideal soil renewer, because it contains the nitrogen and the organic elements.

"The usual practice is to plant clover with wheat and after the wheat has been harvested the clover is plowed under with the wheat stubble. Nature has so adjusted the rate of growth that when the wheat is cut the clover is only a few inches high. But afterwards it shoots up rapidly.

"Here is where hubam is especially valuable. It grows to a height of six, eight, and ten feet in one season, and when the farmer plows it under he puts back in his soil a fertilizer of the very highest value and in great abundance. He gets both quantity and quality."

Hughes discovered this new clover while he was testing seeds from various sections in his greenhouse at Ames. As soon as farmers and seedmen learned about it Hughes was deluged with special offers. One man mailed a check for $10, begging for six seeds, while another sent a check signed in blank and urged Hughes to fill in his own price.

$10.00 From Fifty Seeds.

The value of this discovery is shown from the fact that one man reported he sold a crop of clover for $19.00, which had been developed from fifty seeds.

In mailing samples to experiment stations Hughes sent along a letter estimating the value of the new clover, at $9,000,000 a bushel.

Big stacks of letters have been received from seedmen, farmers and experiment stations all over the United States telling of wonderful results obtained from the new annual sweet clover.

After a lengthy investigation Hughes discovered that the new clover came from Alabama and he traced it to a locality near Newbern, where it was growing wild.

"How do you account for hubam?"

Do not hesitate. If you feel the need of something to build you up and make you feel fine, ask your druggist today for Tanlac. At all good druggists.

Hughes was asked: "Is it an evolution from the viennial variety, or is it a hybrid?"

Is New Creation.

"Neither," he replied. "It is a mutation—a change wrought by nature which practically amounts to a new creation. Just how it is done we do not understand, but those of us who are constantly experimenting with plant life know that such things do happen."

"New varieties of wheat, corn and other grains come into existence in that way. Of course, we all know that new plants can be created by a breeding or grafting process, but this is something different.

"It is a jump in the creative process in which successive stages of evolution are passed over, and we see only the result in the form of a new and superior plant."

When a girl friend told me she was in love with some other man.

When I lost my first tooth.

When the presence of many people began to bore me.

OBREGON OPTIMISTIC OVER U. S. RECOGNITION

Mexico City, March 18.—President Obregon declared today that the negotiations between George T. Sumnerlin, the American charge, and Alberto J. Paul, minister of foreign affairs, have reached a most favorable phase.

In the opinion of President Obregon, the resignation of Albert B. Fall, the American secretary of the Interior would not affect Mexico's international relations.

U. S. TREASURY LOOTED OF $200,000 BONDS

Washington, March 19.—Between $170,000 and $200,000 in negotiable Liberty Bonds are missing from the Liberty Bond branch of the Treasury, W. H. Moran, Chief of the Secret Service, said tonight.

Secret service operatives have been sent to Richmond, Va., and Charlottesville, Va., where two employees of the branch wanted in connection with the investigation of the loss were reported to be headed.

The loss of the bonds became known Saturday it was said, but the total amount missing had not been ascertained tonight.

Charles A. Clevenger, also an employee in the branch, was held for questioning, secret service officials announced, but no charges had been placed against him.

SHE TOLD HIM

"You are not economical," said the infuriated husband.

"Well," flashed his wife, "If you don't call a woman economical who saves her wedding dress for a possible second marriage, I'd love to know just what you do call economy."

Of the many evidences of returning business confidence and financial stability none is more conclusive than the steady advance in prices of Liberty Bonds.

DOCTOR SUES FOR TWENTY MILLION

Seeks Share of Profits in Gun That Hurried War's Close.

By Norris Quinn.

Cleveland, March 18.—Did Dr. Samuel McLean, aged-country physician, invent the Lewis machine gun, instrument of wholesale destruction that made allied victory in the World War possible?

Judge John W. Peck must decide that question in Federal Court here. And on his decision hangs $20,000,000.

McLean has brought suit for that amount, which represents royalties from Lewis machine guns sold during the war to the United States and allied powers.

If the suit goes against McLean he'll have to spend his declining years in the very modest circumstances that marked his earlier life when he worked day and night to perfect his machine gun.

If He Gets It—

But if he gets the $20,000,000—

"Mrs. McLean is going to have the things she should have had earlier in life," McLean promises. "She's denied herself much to help me work out my invention."

"I even had to sell my home when I was struggling along. But she was a brave woman and bore with me."

"Now she likes to read the papers and pick out the home she'll have if we win."

"And that's not all. My daughter is a portrait artist. She wants to complete her art training in Europe. I'll send her there, if I get the judgment. And maybe Mrs. McLean and I will go along."

Eager to Repay Son.

"And my son—he quit high school and went to work to help us along while I was toiling over my blue prints. I'll recompense him for that."

"For my part, I'll have leisure for hunting and collecting rifles and tinkering with them. That's how I came to invent the machine gun, you know—my rifle jammed when I was hunting and I invented an anti-jamming device that's the basis of the machine gun."

All these thoughts run thru McLean's mind as he sits in court, his wife at his side, earnestly listening to the reading of dry reports and the testimony of ordinance experts.

McLean worked fifteen years to produce the McLean machine gun. He organized the McLean Arms and Ordnance Company here in 1903 to perfect and manufacture it.

The company ran out of capital. Then, McLean charges, the patents were turned over to the Automatic Arms Company, organized by men who had been interested in McLean's company.

McLean Left Out.

McLean was left out the reorganization. The Automatic Arms Company started making the Lewis gun and did $350,000,000 worth of business during the war, McLean says. Half of this was profit, he declares.

The Automatic Arms Company and its directors deny McLean's charges. They say the invention of the Lewis gun was independent of any invention of McLean's.

McLean, who 65, is gray-haired, powerful of frame and full of fight.

"My grandfather, whom I must resemble, lived to be 96," he says, smiling. "So I figure I can keep this court fight up thirty-one years more, if necessary."—Louisville Herald.

Ossining, N. Y., March 19.—Warden Lawes of Sing Sing Prison, who believes in locking stable dogs before the horses are stolen, today told his employees that the carrying of payroll money from bank to prison was too risky in these days of banditry, and that in the future they would be paid by check.

METHODIST SCHOOLS RECEIVE LARGE SUM

Mr. W. E. Hogan, treasurer of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, with headquarters at Nashville, Tenn., has recently distributed to the 91 schools and colleges maintained by that denomination $707,792.77. This fund came into the hands of the treasurer from recent collections on subscription made to the Christian education movement, which sought $33,000,000 throughout the bounds of the connection for the strengthening of denominational schools.

It is said that this early distribution of funds will be a timely help to the schools and colleges, many of which are handicapped by inadequate housing facilities and meager endowments.

According to Methodist leaders the Christian education movement will have light of way throughout the connection until May, 1922 at which time the general conference meets in quadrennial session in Hot Springs, Ark., and a report will be made to this supreme body of all the causes which have been entered during the last four years.

Owing to the unprecedented depression of business when the Christian education forces made its drive for money, only $21,000,000 was subscribed and it is said that there will be no let up in pushing the campaign until the full amount is in sight.

CONVICT MURDERS FELLOW PRISONER

Eddyville, Ky., March 18.—A verdict of wilful murder was brought against Monte Cues, Louisville slayer, today, by the coroner's jury probing the death of Clifford Quinlan, a fellow prisoner at the Eddyville prison Friday morning.

Guess, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of Clyde Ormes, instructor at the Louisville Industrial School of Reform, in 1916, cut Quinlan's throat with a knife made out of a file, while the prisoners were being marched to the shirt factory.

Quinlan was serving a sentence for robbery. Both he and Guess were transferred from the Frankfort reformatory last November, after an attempt to escape.

Quinlan, reformatory official said, had made a good record, while Guess was considered a bad prisoner.

Head lines in a paper state that the Government has fitted out a "Dry Navy." What we wish to know is of what use is a dry navy and as to how it may be used and kept dry?

We are always pleased to receive for publication, good live news letters from all portions of the County.
We are even anxious to receive them, but we have, time and again, stated that we cannot publish communications that are unsigned, or written by one whom we do not know. We received such a communication this week from the Bell's Run country, in which there was absolutely no means for identifying the author. If the Writer thereof reads this article he or she will know the reason for our failure to publish the communication.
We regret having to leave these communications out, but cannot avoid doing so.

Is the offer of eight per cent profit fertilizer, made by Henry Ford, in case he procures Muscle Shoals, based upon the cost of Muscle Shoals to the Government, or upon the sum he contemplated putting into the project? People who ride "Tin Liz-zies" have made old man Ford a billion or so in dollars, so some report, and with his pile of money he gets quite a bit in the way of publicity, which causes him to shoot ordinary, very ordinary, "Tommyrot" into the bleachers now and then. He can undoubtedly build and sell Fords, or do it through superintendents and heads of departments, but the fitting out of peace ships and stopping of wars, going to the United States Senate and dictating a line of action to the U. S. government are different matters, matters at which he is just a common, ordinary individual not much beyond some fifty millions of other citizens of the U. S. A.

The recent Legislature passed an act, presumably designed to give County Courts jurisdiction over first offenses in violations of the liquor laws, and supposedly to make the law more easily enforced. But there is a joker within the act that makes it an outrage upon the citizens of every County within the State. The objectionable feature of the late act reads as follows: "Gives Commonwealth's Attorneys jurisdiction over the cases and allows them 50 per cent commission on fines and forfeitures in all courts." The act also allows the arresting officer a fee of $5.00 and gives a reward of $50.00 to the party giving the information leading to arrest and conviction. The additional fees $55.00, if we have the proper understanding of the matter, must be paid by the County wherein the conviction is had. If a party is charged with an offense, brought into County Court and fined $100, altho he never hears of the case perhaps, until he collects his fee, the Commonwealth's Attorney drawn down $50.00, the County Attorney who handles the evidence and conducts the trial receives the sum of $30.00, the trustee of the Jury fund receives $3.00, the balance, $17.00, is turned into the State Treasury, and the County must take from her treasury the sum of $55.00 with which to pay the arresting officer and the party who turns in information against the offender. It is an absolute impossibility for the Commonwealth Attorney to assist in prosecutions in County Courts, due to the fact that most County Courts may be in session on the same days. Then too, in most instances the Commonwealth Attorney is attending circuit court in other places within his district. There was certainly a piece of smooth work done by the Commonwealth Attorneys' friends or representatives in the drafting of the bill recently enacted.

The $50.00 fee is an absolute, unqualified and unearned gift. The County Attorneys necessarily must do the work, receive a fee of 30 per cent and the Commonwealth Attorneys do nothing for which they are handed a fee of 50 per cent. No wonder some of our laws are unpopular.

FARM DEPARTMENT.

Kentucky Rank Mounts in Stock Improvement.

Lexington, Ky., March 18.—An intensive drive for the improvement of farm breeding animals, which has been carried to all parts of the State during the past 16 months, has resulted in giving Kentucky sixth rank among all states in the number of farmers who have agreed to use nothing but purebred animals in all their breeding work, according to an announcement by Wayland Rhoads, beef cattle specialist at the College of Agriculture.

When agreements which are now waiting to be recorded, are taken account of, the standing of the State should be raised to fourth or fifth, Mr. Rhoads said. Kentucky stood at the bottom of the list when the campaign for better sires and stock was started in the State.

The steady progress which has been made in the improvement of Kentucky livestock has been marked by the elimination of scrub and grade breeding sires in counties and parts of counties. Similar drives will be scheduled for the future to further encourage improvement, according to Mr. Rhoads.

Spring Top Dressing Boosts Wheat Yields.

Lexington, Ky., March 18.—In many cases, top dressing wheat with an application of about four tons of stable manure an acre has resulted in average increases of as much as eight bushels an acre in the yield of the crop, according to experimental results being cited by soils specialists at the College of Agriculture to show farmers the value of this method. Top dressing quickens the growth of grain in the spring and encourages a good stand of grass or clover if these are grown in the wheat. Care should be taken in top dressing to see that the manure is not applied too heavily. Coarse manure should be avoided as much as possible, the specialists say.

Tips for Gardeners.

Since they mature quickest and can stand more cold weather, the small, round, olive-shaped types of radishes are best to plant early in the spring. Scarlet Globe and French Breakfast are good varieties. Since all vegetables make rapid growth which requires large amounts of moisture, much of the garden's success depends upon frequent, shallow cultivation to conserve soil moisture and keep down weeds, garden specialists at the College of Agriculture say.

White Queen onion sets usually can be put into the field about March 20. Frequent, shallow cultivation will be necessary since onions are easily choked by weeds that rob soil of the moisture which is necessary for good onions.

Eighteen-Foot Bridges The Rule On Federal-Aid Roads.

Few highway bridges with a width of roadway less than 18 feet are now being constructed on improved roads, according to engineers of the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. In the past some of 12 feet and a good many of 16-foot width have been constructed in an effort to economize but it has proved short-sighted economy. Only one line of traffic can pass over a 12-foot roadway and 16 feet of width will not accommodate two lines in safety. Many of the States such as Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, and Massachusetts have found it advisable in replacing old bridges on important roads to make them wide enough to accommodate three and four lines of traffic.

No Advertising Signs in California Forests.

Advertising signs in the 17 national forests of California must come down, following an order issued by the district forester at San Francisco on January 27. Advertisements printed on rocks and trees are also to be effaced. According to the regulations of the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, such advertising is prohibited in all national forests without special permits, which are seldom issued. The object of this regulation is to prevent defacing the mountain landscapes of the national forests with billboards and other unsightly signs.

Increasing Demand For Muscadine Grape Cuttings.

There has been a great demand during the past year not only for information on Muscadine grapes, but for plants with which to start the business of grape production. Nurserymen have purchased large quantities of cuttings from the cooperative vineyard maintained at Willard, N. C., by the United States Department of Agriculture and the North Carolina Experiment Station. Muscadine grapes suffered less in that section than any other local fruits from the killing frost last April. In spite of the fact that the first growth of the season was entirely killed, a new growth from dormant and adventitious buds resulted in an average crop, while many other fruits suffered from 30 per cent to total loss.

Several years ago the home demonstration organization started encouraging canning club girls to grow Muscadine grapes and make such products from them as jelly, grape juice jams and catsups. In Alabama the club girls have reached the point of filling commercial orders, while in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, South Carolina, and Florida the planting of Muscadine grapes in home arbors is being carried on by club girls who expect to sell their products. The railroads have carried Muscadine grape products on their diners for over a year, and are continuing to do so.

Companies using Muscadine grapes for preparing fruit flavoring sirup and dealcoholized beverages continue to increase their planting and output, and during the year have materially increased their capitalization.

Lightning Protection

There are practical methods, practices, and appliances for protecting buildings against lightning, but because of unscrupulous agents who a score or more years ago succeeded in selling equipment that did not protect, all methods and equipment came into disrepute among farmers and others. In order to put the mark of official and scientific sanction on lightning-protection methods, there was recently appointed, through the collaboration of the Bureau of Standards, the Weather Bureau, and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, a committee to prepare a code. Progress already has been made in the solution of this problem and many well established principles have been made known to interested scientists and workers. It is hoped that the work of this committee will result in developing practical methods, practices, and appliances and make farm buildings and other structures safer.

HUSBAND'S RULES TOO NUMEROUS; DIVORCED

Wife Objects to Specifications And Court Concurs.

Oakland, Cal., March 18.—Ten rules of conduct, which, she alleged, her husband demanded she observe if they were to continue a loveless marital partnership for the sake of their baby, won a divorce for Mrs. Beatrice R. Stone, young society matron of this city, who is now living with her mother, Mrs. Theodore E. Dredge.

Mrs. Stone contended the rules were cruel, and upon this ground Superior Judge A. F. St. Sure granted her an interlocutory degree of divorce and awarded her $100 a month alimony and the custody of the baby. The rules were as follows:

Alcoholic liquors not to be served in home of couple for any purpose.

Alcoholic liquors never to be served in presence of baby at any time.

No intoxicated person ever to be permitted in presence of baby.

Wife to refrain from all use of intoxicating liquors entirely.

Husband to refrain from use of bad language in presence of baby.

Wife not to visit parents except on specified occasions.

While husband absent on business wife not to take baby to home of parents as was her custom. Instead wife was to remain alone at home except for woman who was to be hired to stay by the hour. No relatives permitted.

Husband to visit parents one Sunday a month. Wife could come along if she so chose.

Baby never to be left with wife's mother if wife went out.

Mrs. Stone said she reproached her husband because he showed her no affection, and quoted him as replying:

"I am a technical man and technical men are not affectionate."

Ellery W. Stone, the divorced husband, is a radio engineer and naval officer. He is now on his way to China.

RAILROADS TAKE FIGHT TO COURT

New York, March 20.—Injunction proceedings were instituted today against the Government by counsel for nearly 100 railroads in connection with the rate order promulgated by the Interstate Commerce Commission effective March 1, which the petitioners assert is arbitrary and outside the powers of the commission. Practically all the Eastern lines, except the New York Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio joined in the application to set aside the order which reduced by 15 per cent the proportion of rates on interstate shipments given to Eastern lines and added this percentage to the amount allocated to the New England carriers.

STATE ATTACKS ARBUCKLE JUROR

San Francisco, March 20.—The sensational charge that a member of the jury already selected to try Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle a third time for man-slaughter, held a bias against the District Attorney's office which would prevent him from giving fair consideration to the State's evidence was hurled by Assistant District Attorney Leo Friedman when court opened today and resulted in a sudden halt of proceedings.

Friedman presented an affidavit stating that Edward W. Brown, a member of the jury, was a member of the firm by the same name which had been prosecuted for violation of the pure food laws several times by the District Attorney's office.

He asked that he be removed from the jury. Gavin McNab chief counsel for Arbuckle, hotly contested the request, declaring that it was an "unheard-of proceeding" and charging that the State had the same information last week when Brown was accepted.

Judge Louderback said it was the most important point raised in the trial so far and adjourned court until 1 p. m. in order that authorities may be brought in for argument.

Some attorneys expressed the belief that the action of the State might serve to disqualify the whole jury and result in the necessity of a new start.

FOUR AUTO BANDITS GET $75,000 GEMS

Chicago, March 20.—Four automobile bandits held up the pawnshop of Marcus Nieman in South State Street this morning and escaped with several thousand dollars worth of jewelry.

Nieman, the proprietor, estimated the loss between $75,000 and $100,000. He said the stock was insured for $52,500.

The bandits were all young men. They covered Joseph Fishman, the manager and H. Cohen, a clerk with revolvers while they rifled the safe.

They disappeared in a big motor car.

U. S. TROOPS ORDERED HOME FROM GERMANY

Washington, March 20.—Orders directing the return to the United States by July 1 of all American troops now on the Rhine were issued today by Secretary Weeks.

The order includes the return by the end of the fiscal year of the entire force of approximately 2,000 men excepted from the previous order of several weeks ago under which the homeward movement of the majority of the American Rhine contingent is now in progress.

Secretary Weeks said that the operation of two army transports now being employed in the return of the troops had been ordered continued up to July 1, by which date all of the force would have been withdrawn from the Rhine.

The action of the War Department was merely a continuation of the policy previously announced for withdrawing the American forces from the Rhine territory as early as possible, Mr. Weeks said. It was indicated that the status of army legislation in Congress in no way influenced the department's decision and also that the controversy over payment by Germany for the maintenance of the Rhineland troops was not involved.

Secretary Weeks did not go into detail as to how the functions exercised by General Allen in the Rhineland commission and those of the American forces at Coblenz would be transferred to the Allied commanders. He confined his announcement to the statement that all of the troops would be back in the United States by July 1.

DARK WEED GROWERS BACK SAPIRO'S PLAN

Large Crowds Hear Expert Tell How Co-operative Marketing Has Helped The West

The campaign for the organization of a co-operative marketing association among the tobacco growers of the "black patch" was launched the past week, at a crowd of growers and business men attending meetings which were addressed by Judge Robert Bingham, Louisville publisher, founder of the Hurley Co-operative; Aaron Sapiro, California lawyer and co-operative marketing expert; Col. Joseph Passonnan, of Hopkinsville and Lexington, organization manager who successfully led the campaign in the Hurley district, securing the signatures of 55,000 members to contracts; and H. E. Cooper, Hopkinsville warehouseman and tobacco expert, who declared himself convinced that co-operation was the only wise system of marketing tobacco.

Considerable enthusiasm was aroused by the story of the success of the Hurley Co-operative and the great reduction in cost of handling made under the new system of selling.

Mr. Sapiro, whom Judge Bingham brought to Kentucky to help organize the Hurley growers, spoke at Hopkinsville, Henderson, Owensboro, Clarksville, Tenn., and Springfield, Tenn. At most of his meetings the farmers decided by unanimous vote to adopt the new system of marketing.

Mr. Sapiro maintained in his speeches that the project means better towns as well as better farms, citing the increased purchasing power that follows the formation of co-operative associations and increase in land values.

"There is no escaping the law of supply and demand, but we propose to substitute the demand at the point of consumption for the demand at the point of production," the speaker said.

"Heretofore, the prices paid to the growers have been figured on the latter basis. Under the nation system the supply at the point of production is piled up suddenly, during a few weeks of the year and exceeds the demand there. Consequently the prices go downward and the grower wonders what has happened to him. But the real demand for tobacco is from the consuming public. We propose to balance this demand with the supply, instead of attempting to retain an artificial system which is ruining the growers of tobacco and reducing the level of civilization in these districts."

Mr. Sapiro pointed out that co-operative associations usually preferred to maintain existing channels of trade rather than disrupt commercial relations. He said, however, it would be possible to market the dark crop if the present buyers refused to deal with an association.

"The largest manufacturing institution in England is the English Wholesale Co-operative Society, main training 1,200 or more stores. This has intimated that it would be glad to undertake the manufacture of Kentucky and Tennessee tobacco for the English and European trade. We do not anticipate that the existing buyers will reject our offers, because we can sell them tobacco more efficiently than now sold, but even if they do the growers would not be lost."

"Steady incomes for farmers mean steady incomes for merchants. A stabilized agricultural market means a stabilized mercantile market, and every merchant knows from experience that this is invaluable. The farmer now is merely trying to do intelligently for himself what merchants do intelligently for themselves all the time."

"Not only have the town people profited from the tremendously increased purchasing power of the rural districts surrounding them, but also in land values in the town reflected from corresponding rise in value of farm lands. Farm lands they have profited greatly by the rise because the price obtained from the products grown on them is a fair price under co-operative marketing, and remains so not one year out of four as in Kentucky, but four years out of four. Banks can lend money on farm lands with greater safety because they know that its value will be stable. General business conditions are easier."

Kentucky's schools will not rank forty-fifth if co-operative marketing is adopted for the whole State, he declared. Its roads will be made passable, its homes better, its towns more prosperous as a result.

Mr. Sapiro ended his speech with an appeal that all friends of the Association let it be known that they disapprove violence and coercion in the campaign.

"The interest who oppose organizations of growers because it strengthens them," he said, "have tried to buy off the dark tobacco growers. These interests know that if no organization is effected the dark tobacco growers will continue to be at their mercy. Western Kentucky and Tennessee have experienced some of the benefits of cooperation a year in advance, because of the success attending the movement to organize tobacco growers in the Hurley district in Virginia and the Carolinas."

MILLIONS ILLITERATE IN AMERICA, IS CLAIM

Chicago, March 18.—"Five million people in the United States can neither read nor write any language. Many thousands of children are housed in unsanitary and dangerous school houses. More than 1,800,000 children have less than thirty-four square feet of playground each. Sixty-seven per cent of the children of the country are underprivileged. We are a nation of sixth-graders taught by eleventh-graders."

This was the statement of Mark T. McKee in an address here in which he outlined plans for the home for motherless and fatherless children proposed by the Brotherhood of American Yeomen.

A TALK ON THRIFT

(By S. W. Straus, President, American Society for Thrift.)

At the present time, when some of the grave world problems are being solved, and when the dawn of a happier day is dawning for mankind, it should be borne in mind that the stability and prosperity of nations and the people that comprise them can exist only with the practices of thrift.

During the past three years there have been countless plans suggested or tried for the restoration of the economic balance and the establishment of social peace, but these plans have been successful only in the degree to which they have been founded fundamentally on the principles of thrift.

And better days are coming now, because there is more and more a world-wide manifestation among men to settle down and work and save and thereby thrive.

Whatever may be the problems confronting a nation, they are but the composite of the problems that daily affect the lives of the individual. They may be somewhat more complex, but they are the same basically. The man who has been through rough and bitter experiences, who has had his personal resources seriously impaired, who finds himself shocked and dazed after years of loss and bitter trials, must settle down to a systematic and carefully ordered routine life.

He must recover from his losses and regain his former prosperous condition through careful planning, hard work, and systematic saving. He can be helped only through these simple methods of restitution.

And in a larger and broader way mankind is to-day going through just this experience.

It is well to bear in mind that the same fundamental rules of progress govern individuals and nations. This fact should be kept in mind as we read the trend of international events in our newspapers from day to day as well as when we plan and work out the details of our personal affairs.

The basis of sound economics must be thrift whether it be for the man, for the Nation, or for all mankind.

FORBES SAYS AID TO SOLDIERS GENEROUS

Million And Half Of Cases Handled
During Life Of Present
Veterans' Bureau

Washington, March 18.—That a million and a half of claims of veterans of the World War have already been handled by the government in its generous treatment of them is stated by Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau.

With a total expenditure of $1,259,930,724, Colonel Forbes takes the position that this Government has been more liberal with its former soldiers than any other country participating in the conflict. He says: "During the time that the Bureau of War Risk Insurance and the Rehabilitation Division of the Federal Board for Vocational Education were in operation and during the five months of existence of the present United States Veterans' Bureau, 1,418,912 claims have been made by veterans, divided as follows: 486,884 for vocational training, 171,875 for insurance, and 760,153 for death and disability compensation.

"Out of this number a total of $31,767 claims have been allowed by the bureau, while 472,170 have been disallowed. On December 31, 1921, there were 114,975 claims waiting final adjudication. During 1921, 66,637 veterans reinstated their term insurance and 3,677 reinstated their converted policies, making a total of 70,314. During the same period 76,172 converted their war-time insurance, making a total of 339,167 veterans who still have term policies, with 259,730 having converted insurance policies, a grand total of 598,897 who are still carrying their Government insurance.

"Since the bureau started operations $281,756,392.69 has been paid in insurance claims—$278,239,146.93 for death and disability on term policies and $3,517,345.45 on converted policies for death and disability claims. During the year the Government received $47,442,993 in premiums and $993,697 was set aside for insurance dividends.

"At the close of the year there were 104,579 veterans receiving vocational education, the bureau reported. Of this number 93,914 were in section 2 training, which carried maintenance pay ranging from $80 to $170 a month, in addition to the tuition, books, supplies, and equipment, and 10,644 veterans were undergoing vocational training in section 3 training, which provides tuition, books, supplies, etc., but no maintenance pay. Since the Government undertook the rehabilitation work, it was reported, 119,881 men and women have been placed in section 2 training and 17,137 in section 3.

"According to the medical division report, 28,687 veterans were undergoing hospitalization last December 31, 11,646 being in tubercular hospitals, 8,272 in neuropsychiatric and mental institutions, and 8,769 in general hospitals. Since the creation of the bureau, it was said 206,039 veterans have received hospital treatment and 1,115,259 medical examinations."

The National Republican Club, of New York, in a resolution to Congress, adds:

"The Federal Government maintains numerous and admirably equipped hospitals for the care of sick and disabled veterans. The Federal Government is now spending large sums at rates ranging from $25 to $135 a month, for compensation to soldiers who are in those hospitals. In every northern state except Maine and Utah, comfortable soldiers' homes have been established, toward the maintenance of which the United States Government contributes $120 per year per inmate. The National Government itself maintains 10 splendidly equipped soldiers' homes, scattered over the country from Maine to California and from Wisconsin to Tennessee."

An Earnest Effort

The following prayer is reported to have gone forth from the pulpit of a negro preacher in Mississippi:

"O Lord give thy servant this mornin' the eyes of the eagle and the wisdom of the owl, connect his soul with the gospel telephone in the central skies, illuminate his brow with the sun of Heaven, plizen his mind with love for de people, turpentine his imagination, grease his lips with possum oil, loosen his tongue with the sledge hammer ob thy power, 'lectrically his brain wid de lightning' of de word, put 'petual motion in his ams, fill him plum full ob de dynamite ob dy glory, 'noint him all over wid de kerosene oil ob dy salvation and sot him on fire. Amen."

Attorney-General Daugherty is not exaggerating when he observes that "the people are getting tired of industrial quarrels and strikes and being forcibly fed on hotb." —Chicago News.

GERMANY'S CASH IS MYSTIFYING

Source of Money Supply for Export Puzzling Experts.

Berlin, March 18.—One of the big mysteries of international finance is the amount of foreign currency and foreign securities held by Germans. Upon the solution of this mystery will depend largely the settlement of the reparations problem—but unfortunately the only light that can be shed upon it is that of conjecture and guesswork. So the mystery will continue to remain quite mysterious.

In their belief that Germany is willfully concealing her assets, French publicists have charged that capital to the amount of 6,000,000,000 to 7,000,000,000 gold marks ($1,405,000,000 to $1,640,000,000) has been converted into foreign securities or has been put on deposit in foreign banks. As the German reparations installment for February, 1922, was only 650,000,000 gold marks ($160,000,000) it seemed evident to the French press that Germany could pay if she wanted to collect the money from her private citizens.

Now comes an interview, published in a Berlin paper, quoting Herr Urbig, director of the Disconto-Gesellschaft (one of the largest banks in the Reich), admitting the outward flow of German capital. The figures given by Herr Urbig are quite naturally more conservative than those taken from the French press. His estimate—and he admits it is only an estimate—puts the total of converted German capital at 1,500,000,000 gold marks ($351,000,000). Most of this conversation took place, he says, during the fall of 1921, when the mark suddenly collapsed.

Against this figure, however, Herr Urbig sets up a debit of several hundred million gold marks representing amounts that German capitalists owe to allied and neutral countries. He cautions students of frenzied international finance to guard against the furor numeri—the craze for writing strings of zeros and counting in billions and trillions.

Herr Urbig does not believe that the German government will in its present position be able to stop the conversion of German capital. Stronger governments have tried to regulate the flow of financial paper from one country into another, but have been baffled by the problem.

The treaty of Versailles contains a clause permitting the allied governments to seize private German deposits in the financial institutions of allied countries. This clause, however, has been annulled through the efforts of British financiers, who found that it drove away a lucrative amount of German business to American and neutral banks.

INTEREST CENTERS IN WORLD SUNDAY

Southern Methodists thruout the connection are centering their interest on World Sunday, March 26, at which time every member of that denomination who made a subscription to the Centenary of Missions movement will be asked to make a payment on his pledge.

The "World Sunday" movement which is now sweeping this section was inaugurated, it is said, to arouse Methodists to meet their obligations for overdue missionary money, and according to the plans of leaders a special effort will be made in this direction on March 26, the official "World Sunday" of Southern Methodism, when the theme of world missions will be presented in every church within the bounds of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

During the week following "World Sunday" a church-wide canvass will be made to collect arrearages in Centenary payments. It is said that there is a shortage of $4,000,000 in collections to be made up before the meeting of the General Conference in May, 1922.

Peter Cooper, the inventor, in his autobiography, said: "I first obtained an old pair of shoes and took them apart to see the structure and then, after procuring leather, thread, and needles and some suitable tools, without further instruction I made the last, and a pair of shoes which compared very favorably with the country shoes then in vogue."

The city of Sao Paulo has been characterized as the "Hub of Methodism" in Brazil. Among the band some new plants erected with Centenary money are the New Central church and the big Publishing House, at Sao Paulo, property of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

IS YOUR HEALTH GRADUALLY SLIPPING?

Interesting Experience of a Texas Lady Who Declares That if More Women Knew About Cardui They Would Be Spared Much Sickness and Worry.

Navasota, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so listless I could hardly go at all."

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shell. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish."

"I was . . . nervous and easily upset."

I couldn't rest well at night and was . . . just lifeless."

"I heard of Cardui and after reading I decided I had some female trouble that was pulling me down. I sent for Cardui and began it . . ."

"In a very short while after I began the Cardui Home Treatment I saw an improvement and it wasn't long until I was all right—good appetite, splendid rest, and much stronger so that I easily did my house work."

"Later I took a bottle of Cardui as a tonic. I can recommend Cardui and gladly do so, for if more women knew, it would save a great deal of worry and sickness."

The enthusiastic praise of thousands of other women who have found Cardui helpful should convince you that it is worth trying. All druggists sell it.

ORGANIZATION OF DARK DISTRICT IS UP TO FARMERS

Local Organizations Will Have Large Part In Campaign, Says Col. Passonneau.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 20.—Discussing the campaign to organize the growers of tobacco in the "black patch", Col. Joseph Passonneau, organization manager, said today that the campaign is being undertaken at the request of leading business men and tobacco growers of the four sections composing the dark tobacco district, made to Judge Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville, who led the successful effort to organize the 55,000 growers of the Burley district.

Col. Passonneau said it is now up to the business men and the farmers of the dark district, and that the farmers, in whose interest the campaign will be made, will be expected to do the lion's share of the work of the organization.

Col. Passonneau returned from a trip over part of the district Saturday night. He commended the newspaper men for their interest in and aid to the movement. He said:

"On March 11, there was published a supplement of the Courier Journal which included Mr. Aaron Sapp's speech before a committee of tobacco growers and business men from the different sections of the dark tobacco growers and business men from the different sections of the dark tobacco district held at Louisville on March 4, and also a copy of the contract to be used by the Dark Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association. In addition, a great many of the local papers within the dark tobacco area have published the contract. This shows an excellent spirit on the part of the newspaper men, and one for which the persons interested in the marketing movement are particularly grateful.

"The decision made by Judge Bingham to use his influence in launching a movement for the formation of a cooperative selling association for the growers of dark tobacco was prompted first, by his desire as a public spirited citizen of the state to do all he could to improve the conditions of growers of tobacco and the business of the State generally and second, because of a large number of requests which came to him from influential farmers and business men in Western Kentucky asking him to interest himself in the welfare of the growers of dark tobacco as he had interested himself in the welfare of the growers of Burley tobacco.

"These requests began coming to Judge Bingham as early as a year ago. Hence his decision to call a meeting of a considerable number of the more prominent tobacco growers and business men of the dark tobacco district at Louisville on the 4th of March for the purpose of giving them an opportunity to hear an explanation of the plan, in order to find out more definitely the general sentiment for organization in Western Kentucky. The plan was endorsed unanimously at this meeting and Judge Bingham was requested to commence at once the organization work.

"The plan of organization will be definitely localized and it will be up to the leaders and farmers of each district such as the dark fired, stemming and the one-sucker, to carry on the movement within their respective districts likewise, it will be up to the influential farmers and leaders both in business and agriculture, living within each county, to carry on the movement in their county, and lastly, the farmers of each local community, whether it be a school district or voting precinct, will be expected to do the work of organization.

"In other words, the plan of organizing will be strictly democratic, in every sense. Naturally, it is hoped that each district, each county and each community will follow the accepted methods of advocating the organizing. Consequently, in order to maintain uniformity of method, the management of the campaign will be directed largely from headquarters, but in each case the actual carrying on of the work will be done by the county and local organization. Within a short time there will be commenced the arrangements of meetings in each county for the purpose of selecting county organizations and discussing the methods which generally bring the best results in campaigns of this kind.

"Meanwhile, mass meetings will be held in the various county seats on court days and on Saturdays, when the provisions of the contract to be used by the Association will be fully explained.

There is no time so appropriate as today to take stock of one's ability to save money and to devise plans for stimulating one's savings instinct—the only sure door to comfort, independence, and fortune.

33 x 4½ "	67.00	42.85	36%
33 x 5 "	81.50	52.15	36%

HOW the cost of building quality tires has been brought down to the lowest level in history was explained by H. S. Firestone, President of the Company, to the stockholders at the annual meeting on December 15, 1921.

1. All inventories and commitments at or below the market.
2. Increased manufacturing efficiency and volume production reduced factory overhead 58%.
3. Selling costs reduced 38%.

Mr. Firestone stated, "This reduction in prices is made possible by our unusually advantageous buying facilities, and the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of our 100% stockholding organization.

"Due credit must be given to Firestone dealers who are selling Firestone tires on a smaller margin of profit. This brings every Firestone saving direct to the car owner."

The saving through first cost plus the saving through high mileage doubles Firestone economy and is daily adding new fame to the Firestone principle of service—
